There is no objection to comply with the request of the Postal Dept. The SE's proposal to receive sealed bags and keep them in amanathi in his chest on occasions when equivalent cheques cannot be given immediately owing to his absence from head quarters is not acceptable. Not easy to verify cash and then take it. A receipt may be given to the Post master and on its surrender a cheque may be given issued by the SE on his return to head quarters.

Letter No.TC-84, dated the 2nd October 1915, from the Postmaster General, Madras Circle, to the First Assistant to the Resident in Mysore.

I have the honour to say that the cash collections of the sub-post office at Cauvery Reservoir are far in excess of its disbursements, as the coolies and others employed in the construction of the reservoir often remit money through the agency of the Post office to their relatives abroad. The sub-post office, in order to relieve itself of its surplus cash has to send special remittances, under police escort, to the Mysore head office, amounting to nearly Rs. 8,000 a month, in addition to a daily regular remittance of Rs. 200 sent through the post. Such an arrangement not only involves additional expenditure to the Post Office, but also necessitates the supply of police escort by the State.

2. I understand that, in order to meet weekly payments for the coolies and others employed in the construction, the Superintending Engineer draws money from the District Treasury at Mysore and that the money has to be conveyed to Kannambady under police escort. If so, the surplus collections of the Cauvery Reservoir post office, which average about Rs. 450 daily might, it is thought, well be utilised by the Superintending Engineer- a course which would tend to convenience on both sides. Under this arrangement, the local post office would send money direct to the Superintending Engineer in exchange for a cheque on the district treasury at Mysore in favour of the head postmaster, Mysore and the latter officer on receiving the cheque from the sub-post office, would send it to the treasury as a remittance. This procedure would also obviate the necessity of applying frequently to the State police for escort.

3. If the proposal meets with the approval of the Hon'ble

Letter No:825 dated the 26th November 1915, from the Superintending Engineer, Cauvery Reservoir Works, to the Comptroller, Public Works and Railway Branch.

-----ccOoo------

With reference to your letter No:C.R.239 of the 15th November 1915, regarding the receipt of cash from the local Post Office, I have the honour to state that I have no objection to the arrangements being adopted.

2. The Post Master tells me that he is prohibited from keeping cash with him above a certain limit and that he has therefore to remit the excess received on any day, the same day. I have however no objection to receive the money, as often the Postal Department may consider necessary. Since no-body but myself is authorized to draw cheques here, there will be inconvenience in issuing cheques during the day I am out, on inspection and halt, out of Head Quarters. The only remedy on such occasions would be to permit the Post Master to retain the cash with him till I return to Head Quarters, or to deposit the cash in my chest separately in a sealed bag every day, till I return to Head Quarters and can give a cheque for the total sum so deposited. As you are aware, I have occasionally to go out inspecting channels and other works.
